

ABSTRACT

A method for representing records includes, assigning a unique identifier to a record stored at a record collection site, entering the unique identifier in a hierarchical tree structure, and sending the hierarchical tree structure to a central storage site.

5

20724553.doc